Will Bombing Win the War

(By C. J. Allison, Jr.)

There are various schools of thought on the question, "Will bombing win the war?" Air Marshal Sir Arthur T. (Bomber) Harris is very definitely of the opinion that bombing can win the war if intensified sufficiently. There are military authorities who don't agree with him while others feel that the services, Air Army and Navy are interdependent and that victory will come only through the closer co-ordination of all three.

But in this article I want to tell you something of what the Air Force has done and is doing, and particularly of the work of the Bomber Command.

On Thursday afternoon following our arrival in London we were told that an interview had been arranged for our party with Sir Arthur Harris known in Britain as "Bomber" Harris. Cars called for us at the hotel and we were whisked away to his headquarters. There the Chief greeted us and for nearly an hour we talked. At first Sir Arthur seemed very reticent. Didn't seem to want to be bothered with a party of inquisitive newspapermen, but gradually the shell cracked and his reserve fell away. It was then he told us something of the bombing which his group had been carrying to the enemy country for the past few years; of the steady and intensive growth of the attack; its object and the results obtained, and the effect on the civilian population and industry.

The Bishop of Chichester

Our interview followed closely upon the address of the Bishop of Chichester in the British House of Lords wherein the Bishop criticized what he contended was indiscriminate bombing of German cities and the killing of thousands of civilians.

In his address the Bishop said he did not wish to reflect any criticism on the pilots, gunners and air crew which carried on without injury and violence from which non-combatants as well as combatants suffered. He recalled the joint declaration of the United Nations, and France, at the outbreak of war, of their intention to conduct hostilities with the firm desire to spare the civilian population, but pointed out that in the process of a long and exhausting struggle it was possible to forget what they had once held without question to imply.

Nor was he forgetting the terrible damage the Luftwaffe had done to Belgrade, Warsaw, Rotterdam, London, Portsmouth, Coventry, Plymouth, Canterbury and many other places of military, industrial and cultural importance. The question with which he was concerned was: "Did the Government understand the full force of what our aerial bombardment was doing and what it was now destroying? Was it alive not only to the vastness of the material damage, much of which was irreparable, but also to the harvest it was laying up for the future relationships of the people of Europe? He recognized the legitimacy of concentrated attacks, but to obliterate a whole town because certain portions contained military and industrial establishments was to reject a fair sense of balance.

At Hamburg alone, a city of between one and two million people, German statistics stated some 28,000 persons had been killed—yet Hamburg was one of the most democratic towns in Germany. Berlin, he said, was four times larger than Hamburg and while war establishments were fair targets some 74,000 persons had been killed and 3,000,000 were already homeless—the policy was obliteration and that was not a justifiable act of war. And so throughout his address the Bishop criticized the Government's policy of carrying destruction to Germany.

JOE CITIZEN SAYS—

You know, I always think it queer that such a land as this one here should have to coax and beg and plead for money for an urgent need. Our loans, I grant you, end up strong but how they crawl and creep along! And no one asked to GIVE a dime but just to LEND cash for a time! You'd think that everybody would be buying all the bonds they could to speed the day that sees our men brought back to Canada again. And also help to make it sure—a good sound peace that will endure! Yes, sir, we ought to back this loan with every dollar that we own. To stop right now and pare and prune would be to quit the job too soon. And THAT would certainly look grim to those who offered life and limb.

Seventh Victory Loan Organizing

This week will see the organizing of the local committees which are to handle the Seventh Victory Loan for the Wainwright-Irma district. Mr. P. Armishaw, has been appointed as unit organizer for this territory, with Mr. Alex Adams as local chairman.

The full quota which it is desired to raise from the efforts in this loan will be $175,000.00, and it is anticipated that the final figures at the close of the subscription period will repeat the final efforts of previous loans, in each of which we have gone well "over the top!"

School Bells Again Welcome Pupils

Monday last saw town and district school pupils preparing for their fall term studies by registration in their several grades, and from reports to hand the numbers will be as great as ever, with a few increases in some of the classes.

The new principal of the high school, Mr. F. M. Jacobs, of Calgary, as well as Miss H. McDowell, of Edmonton, together with Mr. R. Paton (of the previous staff) will be in charge in the Wainwright public high school, while the public school will be staffed by Mr. J. Findlay (prin.), Mrs. D. Dreger (VI-VII), Miss V. Sutherland (IV-V), Miss L. Mabey (II-III), and Miss E. Teifer (I.).

Conn. Chapt. O.E.S. Entertains Members

The members of Connaught Chapter, Order of Eastern Star met at the home of their matron, Mrs. Louise Stott last Friday evening to honor two of their Past Matrons, Mrs. W. Brunker and Mrs. A. Lasell, who are leaving to make their home in B.C.

The evening was spent in games. Mrs. Stott presented each of the ladies with a gift of remembrance from the chapter.

Lunch was served and another Eastern Star evening was greatly enjoyed.

Liberal Government Sets Pace for Peace

It is a good thing that, during the last session of Parliament, the government gave the lead in a wide variety of measures to assure prosperity and a high standard of living for Canadians after the war. When the economic impetus of war diminishes, the Liberal government's program will step into prevent a return of the depression that marked the years following the last war. Floors under farm and fish prices; unprecedented aid for exports; maintenance of home markets and measures to assure sales abroad; millions for farm and urban housing; easier and cheaper credit for farmers and government aid to help small-town industries develop profitable peacetime production, family allowances, war service gratuities and re-establishment credits—these and other parts of the big postwar program give promise of good times in the peace to come.

Up to that time the Marshal told us some 26,000 tons of bombs had fallen on Berlin. He estimated that it would take some 40,000 tons to wipe out all industry there. It was the intention to completely crush the city and between a half and two-thirds of the objective had already been attained.

He had estimated that it would take 15,000 tons of bombs to destroy Hamburg, but 10,000 tons had destroyed about 75 per cent of the city, or 6,000 acres.

Some 40,000 square miles of Germany had been devastated outside the City of Berlin, and we saw a number of the Air Force pictures taken over Berlin and other German cities. These included Kell, Hamburg, Hagen, Frankfurt, Essen, Duiseldorf, Rostock, Cologne, the Krupp works in Berlin, Dunlop Factory at Montluison, the Renault works in Paris. Shown in the third dimension the buildings stood out clearly in the photographs and the damage was terrific.

It was the Air Marshal's opinion that given sufficient bombers the war could be brought to an end within a couple of months. He told of loads carried by the bombers which included high explosives and incendiaries.

Speaking of training the Air Marshal expressed high praise for the training being given in Canada and the work being done by the Canadians in the bomber group.

He told of the large number of planes used in the attacking forces and explained that this system was most effective and losses lower than through single plane attacks.

We left the Air Marshal with the feeling that the task of bombing Germany from the air was in safe hands, and that there would be no weakening of the effort until the last blow was struck and our armies marched triumphantly into Germany.

Daughter's Death Bereaves Town Family

Passing away quietly in her bed on Friday morning last at her home in town, Miss Laura Irene Lyle leaves to mourn her loss her father and mother Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lyle. She was 20 years of age.

Born at Kitscoty, Alta., she had lived in Wainwright, and was a studious pupil of the Wainwright schools.

During her young life in the community she had made innumerable friends, and was a faithful member of the United Church, and connected with many of its activities.

For the past few years she had been in illing health, undergoing a serious operation in 1942, from which she gained some relief.

THE FUNERAL

On Monday afternoon, the United Church was filled to overflowing with sympathizers and friends when the funeral services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. J. Richard, B.A., assisted by the choir of the church. Favorite hymns of the family were joined in by the full congregation.

Interment was made in the Wainwright cemetery, pallbearers being Messrs. George and Stanley Chynoweth, Garnet and Allan Murray, Ronald, and Earl Murray. McLeod's funeral parlors conducted arrangements.

The Star extends the sympathies of the whole district to the sorrowing parents in their sad loss of a loving daughter.

Floral tributes of love and esteem were from:—Mother & Dad, Uncle George & Family, Uncle Jack & Family, Uncle Alce & Aunt Minnie, Ellen, Ed & Angeline, Earl & Olive, Stan & Olive, Howard & Lucille, Mrs. Chynoweth, Della & Albert, Ruby & Tom, Mrs. Mills, Gwen & Hugh, Eric, Oliver & Harvey, Violet & Family, Aunt Mabel, Stan, Helen, George & Dorothy, Eva & Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Bowdman & Bessie, Mr. and Mrs. R. ## Wesley Earl Lane Joins Benedict Ranks

VICTORIA, B.C. Sept. 27.—First United Church, Victoria, was the scene of an evening wedding recently when Miss Jessie Frances Gare, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Gare, Trochu, became the bride of Wesley Earl Lane, RCNVR, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Lane, Wainwright. The Rev. Hugh McLeod performed the ceremony.

A powder blue dressmaker suit was chosen by the bride. She also wore brown accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias.

Miss Mary Hopkins was bridesmaid and wore a pale blue dressmaker suit with matching accessories and a corsage bouquet of pink roses and freesias. Larry Winter, RCNVR, was best man.

A small reception was held at the home of LSBA. and Mrs. D. Johnston, Esquimalt Road, where the bride and bridegroom received their guests standing between tall baskets of brown and golden autumn flowers. G. Sedger proposed the toast to the bride.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. W. T. Lane, Wainwright, mother of the bridegroom; his sister, Mrs. W. C. Elliott, and nephew, Bobby, of Edmonton, and Mrs. McAndrew, Vancouver.—Con.

O'seas Xmas Gifts

October 5 to 25

The post office department (Canada), Ottawa, suggests that in order to make sure Christmas parcels will reach the recipients in time, the following dates should be observed:

Oct. 5 — The Middle East area; Egypt, Iran, Iraq, Syria.

Oct. 10 — Central Mediterranean Forces.

Oct. 25 — The United Kingdom and France.

In view of the rapid progress of the war, these dates might possibly be subject to change. Last Christmas season over 12 million pounds of mail alone were despatched to the Forces Overseas from Canada.

Ration Book 5 Covers A Year

Ration Book 5 to be distributed during the week October 14 to 21 will cover 50 weeks instead of 32 owing to the stable picture of the supply situation which has been obtained for the first time since the war began.

An explanatory pamphlet, per family, to be issued simultaneously will provide consumers with a summary of the supply situation in sugar, butter and preserves.

Ration Book 5, similar in size to previous books, will contain 25 coupons on each of its 11 pages as against 16 previously. There are no tea-coffee or meat coupons but seven sheets of spare coupons and a surrender card should take care of any emergency.

Distribution of the new pink-covered ration book is again undertaken by volunteer workers. Every applicant must complete the stub of "K" coupon sheet in ration book 4, filling in name, address and ration book prefix letters and serial number. The "K" coupon sheet must not be detached but the whole book taken to the distributing centre where it will be returned upon issue of the new book. Dates of distribution in your community during this particular week will be announced later.

Stupidity isn't always a lack of brains. It is often just the love of ease.

Miss Kay Rutherford was in town last week end on leave from her nursing duties at Viking hospital.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear daughter, Ruth Bartlett, who passed away October 2nd, 1940.

"O, for the touch of a vanished hand, and the sound of a voice that is still."

Ever remembered by Mother, Father and Joyce.

A Visit to New York's Stage Door Canteen

By Helen K. Legge

It is not often done, to begin a story with thanks, but in this case there would be no story if it had not been for the courtesy of the War-time Information Board, alias Mr. Harry Sedgewick and Miss Thomas; Lady Hardwicke, Miss Judith Evelyn, et al. Through these obliging people a visit—in fact, two visits—to New York's famous Stage Door Canteen were possible.

As for the famous Canteen itself—it is located in the basement of an old theatre, and consists mainly of a small anteroom and a very large adjoining room, where the dancing and entertainment take place. At the far side from the entrance there is a short flight of steps leading to a small balcony running the length of one side of the room. On this ledge there are a number of tables looking over the dance floor toward the stage. Beyond the tables is the long counter, and back of that are huge bin-like structures housing literally thousands of sandwiches. Hostesses serve the boys with the kind of sandwiches they want, also with tea, coffee or milk, rolls, cake, candy and fruit in season—when they can get it. Beyond the counter are a kitchen and two or three small pantries. And all a serviceman, one of any of the allied nations, needs for this chance at civilian life, are furlough papers or some other means of identification. When I asked if a move to larger quarters had ever been considered I

SURE! WE'VE A NAVY TOO!

(By Wren M. E. Wilbraham, H.M.C.S. "Bytown")

You brag of your glorious Army. Your glamorous Air-Force, too. Do you ever think of the Navy? And the job they have to do. You fight your fights on land, in air, and you're doing a darn good job; but have you asked how long you'd last?

If it wasn't for a Gob. No sane man ever sails those seas. And expects to live it through; So thank your stars, you've got fool stars.

Who wear the Navy Blue. We don't fly o'er your cities Or march with a heavy pack; But the Navy always takes you there And the Navy brings you back. There's never more than a whistle As we quietly above off to sea To protect your precious Merchant Fleet.

From the Ruthless enemy, No frantic crowds to see us off, No commotion in the Town, And when we're lost in action, It's "Just Another Ship Gone Down". The Harbour Lights we're watching Till they fade out in the rain; And realize we may never Return to our homes again.

We face the cold Atlantic, The Icebergs, snow and sleet; No matter what the sacrifice For us there's no "Retreat". We are beaten by the angry seas, Torpedoed by the Huns, Bombed by enemy air-craft And blasted by their guns. We are freezing on the upper deck, It's awful hot below. We are seaskick, bruised and broken, But the convoy on must go. We face the fog, the ice, the storm; Sometimes for days we're lost, But the Navy still must carry on Regardless of the cost.

We guard your vital food supplies Your planes and tanks and guns For your existence "Over There" To Merchant Boys give thanks. So give credit to your Army, And your Air-Force where it's due; But we'd like you to remember You have a Navy too.

Hints for the Household

Here is a recipe that should be a prize winner for you, if you ever have a chance to submit it.

It's a recipe for delicious muffins, calling for liberal use of peanut butter and cereal with whole-grain nourishment. Such muffins are just what you need during these strenuous days. Try the recipe and you will see why it is a bright "Star" for this month.

Peanut Butter Bran Muffins

1 cup sifted flour
2½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
1 egg, unbeaten
8 tablespoons peanut butter
1 cup milk
1 cup 40% bran flakes
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, sugar, and salt; sift again. Combine egg and peanut butter, blending well. Add milk gradually and mix well. Then add to flour mixture and mix only enough to dampen all flour. Add bran flakes. Turn into greased muffin pans, filling them 2/3 full. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 20 minutes; or until done. Makes 8 large or 12 medium muffins.

JELLY MAKERS WELCOME THE CONCORD

The short-bill recipes keep that intriguing quality of fully ripe grapes. The flavor of these jellies and jams is delicious; you gain more glasses from every pound of fruit, and they "set" to perfection. Follow directions carefully:

Concord Grape Jelly

(Makes about 10 medium glasses)
4 cups juice
7½ cups sugar
¼ bottle fruit pectin
To prepare juice, stem about 3 pounds fully ripe grapes and crush thoroughly. Add ½ cup water, bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 10 minutes. Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice.

Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix.

Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard ½ minute.

Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once.

Ripe Grape Jam

5½ cups prepared fruit
7 cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin
To prepare fruit, strip skins from about 3 pounds fully ripe grapes. Add 1 cup water to pulp, bring to a boil, and simmer, covered, 5 minutes. Remove seeds by sieving. Chop or grind skins; add to pulp. If desired, the grated rind of an orange may be added.

Measure sugar into dry dish, and set aside until needed. Measure prepared fruit into a 6- to 6-quart kettle filling up last cup or fraction of cup with water if necessary.

Place over hottest fire. Add powdered fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once pour in sugar, stirring constantly. (To reduce foaming, ¼ teaspoon butter may be added.) Continue stirring, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute.

Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 12 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

DESSERT IN A JIFFY

Here's a Jiffy Pie recipe for your consideration. Can you imagine anything more simple or more tasteful?

Chocolate Topped Pies

Sprinkle grated unsweetened chocolate on bottom of baked pie shell while it is still warm. Turn vanilla or butterscotch cream or custard filling into crust. Sprinkle with grated chocolate. Place under broiler flame for 2 minutes, or until chocolate is melted.

Try sprinkling grated chocolate over meringue-topped pies a week as pies are removed from oven.

Make your next dessert a new desert—for your family or your guests.

Jellied Peach Cheese Ring

1 package cherry flavored gelatin;
1½ cups hot water; 2 tablespoons sugar; 2 tablespoons cold water; 1½ cups cut peaches; 1½ cups cottage cheese, finely sieved; dash of salt.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add sugar and cold water to peaches and let stand about 15 minutes. Measure 1 cup gelatin and add peach mixture. Chill until firm.

Chill remaining gelatin until slightly thickened. Place in bowl of ice and water and whip with rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. Add cottage cheese and salt; mix well. Turn into ring mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Place jellied peaches by spoonful into center of mold. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Cheese Muffin Ring

1½ cups sifted cake flour; 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ½ teaspoon salt; ¼ cup grated American cheese; 1 egg, well beaten; ¼ cup milk; 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Add cheese and mix well. Combine egg, milk, and melted shortening. Add to flour mixture, beating only enough to dampen all flour. Bake in greased 8x8x2-inch pan or greased ring mold in hot oven (425°F.) 25 minutes, or until done. Serve with creamed eggs or creamed vegetables. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Mocha Layer Cake

2 cups sifted cake flour; 3 tablespoons breakfast cocoa; 2½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ½ teaspoon salt; ½ cup butter or other shortening; 1 cup sugar; 1 egg;

unbeaten; ¾ cup cold strong coffee; 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure, add cocoa, baking powder and salt and sift together three times. Cream shortening and sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat very thoroughly. Add flour, alternately with coffee, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in two greased 8-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375°F.) 25 minutes, or until done. Spread Fluffy Mocha Frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake.

FILM STRIP DEALS WITH RURAL SCHOOL LUNCH

"The Rural School Lunch" is the topic of a film strip by the National Film Board, taken recently in the Municipality of Roset, Manitoba, at request of the Division of Nutrition, Ottawa. Boys and girls of the municipality "starred" in the film.

The film strip depicts the three different methods by which adequate hot school lunches may be served in any rural school in Canada, as well as the support which the parents of pupils can give such a project.

The film is to be available for showing throughout the rural districts of Canada in about two months, according to Dr. F. W. Jackson, deputy minister of health and welfare for Manitoba.

WHOOPIING COUGH KILLS MANY CANADIAN BABIES

If parents showed the same concern for the protection of their children against whooping cough as they do to safeguard them from infantile paralysis, hundreds of babies would

Health League of Canada said today, be saved from early graves, the League urged widespread response to the message of National Immunization Week, September 10 to 16, which was sponsored in support of public-health-department programs.

Whooping cough is not the comparatively harmless childhood disease which many parents still believe it to be, the Health League warned. Every year it takes the lives of many young children in Canada. Among those who recover it often results in serious complications which affect health in later years.

A large measure of protection against whooping cough is given by pertussis vaccine, and because of recent medical discoveries, children now may be protected against both whooping cough and diphtheria—another deadly disease—at the same time.

Combine Immunization Against Whooping Cough, Diphtheria

Studies show that infants can be immunized successfully against diphtheria and whooping cough at the same time. The Health League of Canada reported today, quoting an article by three Illinois investigators in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

"Because diphtheria and whooping cough are most prevalent and serious in the first years of life, it seemed logical that immunization against the two diseases should be attempted at the same time," the investigators are quoted. The report is based on injections given 649 infants averaging eight months in age. Three doses were given each child. Three-week intervals between doses yielded a higher percentage of immunity responses than dosage one week apart. Ninety-seven per cent of the children on the three-week-interval dosage tested immune to diphtheria and 72 per cent had high immunity tests for whooping cough. After a stimulating dose of pertussis vaccine, the whooping cough percentage rose to 95. Reactions were transient and usually mild.

The three investigators said that "No infant so injected during the past five years is known to have contracted either disease."

CBC PRAIRIE REGION PRODUCERS

Behind the scenes in all CBC broadcasts are the producers—a category of technicians, or artists, or executives—their work partakes of all three—who are peculiar to radio. They are concerned with choice of music; choice of artists, actors, or speakers; timing, placing of microphones, financing, and the multitude of things that go into the making of a radio broadcast. Here, on a rare occasion—a producers' conference in Winnipeg—the camera has caught CBC's producers for the Prairie Region in an informal moment. Left to right, they are: Dan E. Cameron, Talks and Education; Roland Morrier, Popular Music and Variety; Norman Lucas, Senior Producer; John Burke-Gaffney, Farm and School Broadcasts and Music; and Esme Ljungh, Drama.

LIBERAL IDEAS SET

PACE FOR PEACE

OTTAWA—Holding of two great international conferences in Canada this month is convincing proof of the new importance our country has achieved in world affairs. This has been built up by years of outstanding statesmanship. On the surface, international relations seem remote to most men and women. But the fact is that for Canada they are of the utmost importance in the everyday life of every man, woman and child. In the first place, this development increases the influence Canada can exert towards maintenance of peace. Canadians do not want again the tremendous expenditure of life and treasure or the destruction involved in huge armed conflict. If peace can be preserved, this in itself is of first significance in the saving of the lives of Canadian youth and preventing disruption of family, business, farm and industrial pursuits.

Farmers Need

World Markets

But the new place Canada has attained among world nations means much more than that. Canadian farmers and other primary producers depend on world markets, the removal of tariff barriers and increase of sales abroad. Toward this objective the Liberal government is throwing its whole weight. It means employment instead of idleness, prosperity instead of depression, as the government succeeds. Canada has taken a leading part in the movement for freer trade after the war. The greater its influence with other nations the more likely is this new plan to succeed. In one big step, the Liberal government has put all farm machinery and equipment on the free list. This not only will reduce agricultural machinery prices to Canadian producers, but encourages other nations to accord free entry of agricultural products from Canada.

Churchill, Roosevelt and King Again at Quebec

The accent at the second Quebec conference on finishing the Pacific war. Canada is vitally interested in this. But Churchill, Roosevelt and King are meeting as full victory nears in Europe. There is no doubt that European settlements of vast import to Canada will be discussed. It is a good thing that the Canadian prime minister is present to express the point of view of the Canadian people.

UNRRA Buys

In Canada

The Montreal gathering of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration is also important to Canada both from the human and economic standpoints. When the European phase of the war is won demands for weapons and materials spurred by the conflict will be sharply reduced. In manufacturing industry there will be a scarcity of many products required by civilians. But the tremendous production of Canadian farms is already a reality. If war orders were to cease and not be replaced, prosperity of primary producers would be threatened. Because of Canada's great food producing capacity, as well as her increased industrial power, it is estimated that orders from UNRRA will far exceed the $77,000,000 annual contribution by Canada. The indication is that, during the transition from war to peace, requirements for liberated countries in Europe and elsewhere will create large markets for Canadian farm products. Besides food UNRRA orders for 20,000,000 pounds of fish, 60,000,000 pounds of soap and $6,000,000 of woollen clothing are being discussed. All these items will increase the markets for the primary products involved. L. B. Pearson, Canadian minister to Washington, represents Canada on the supreme council of UNRRA. Canadian advisers are taking a foremost part in the deliberations. There is no doubt but that, in this sphere, Canada's new prominence in world affairs will mean much to Canadians of both rural and urban communities.

quarters to provide more flavor for it. Fish is a somewhat colorless food and the bright color of this lemon garnish gives a pleasing note that makes this food more appetizing. In fact lemon makes all types of seafood more interesting—from oysters to fillet of sole or salmon steak.

No Fishing for Compliments

With This Fish Cooking Method

Have fish cut in slices. Sprinkle these generously with lemon juice. Flour one side only. Cover bottom of broiler pan or shallow baking dish with oil or melted fat. Dip floured side in the hot oil. Turn at once. Season with salt, pepper and paprika. Broil floured side up, without further turning, until cooked through and browned (about 12 minutes).

Serve fish on a hot plate or platter with sprigs of parsley and lemon quarters (the unpeeled lemon, cut in lengthwise quarters) for garnish. These lemon quarters, because they retain the peel, are easy to pick up and squeeze. They are large enough, also, to provide plenty of the tart and pleasing juice.

The first week in October brings radio listeners another batch of interesting and varied radio entertainment. Monday, October 2, hails the return of "Liptonaires"—a beautifully arranged bit of musical entertainment to be heard over CJCA at two o'clock Monday through Friday.

The businesswoman who has access to a radio around nine a. m.; and the housewife who has just reached the end of her morning run of breakfast chores, will be in a position to get a quick summary of latest news developments at 8.55 each morning of the week. Commencing Monday, October 2, CJCA will present "The Vicks News Review" at this time.

Smilin' Ed McConnell is one of the oldest veterans of the radio world. He's been around since 1921 and here's how he broke into radio.

One night the program director of Station WSB, Atlanta, Georgia, was pacing the floor, tearing his hair and muttering violently because certain person billed to broadcast that evening had failed to appear. Into the midst of this scene, walked two unsuspecting visitors from Newman, Georgia. One was Smilin' Ed McConnell, one who since 1910, has been regarded as "quite the stuff" up around Newman way. The harassed station official took a chance—Smilin' Ed was shoved into the studio and began his sincere patter intermingled with song. Before the first song was over, phones were ringing and in a little while telegrams were rolling in. He was sure-fire hit from that night on—and today, 23 years later, Smilin' Ed is still the idol of millions.

For the past 15 years Smilin' Ed has been connected with the Mantle Lamp Company of America, Incorporated, and has done much towards bringing cheer and happiness into the homes of his farmer friends not only through his entertainment but by suggesting the use of the Aladdin Kerosene Lamp to them. Commencing Tuesday, October 3, Smilin' Ed will be heard over CJCA each Tuesday and Thursday at five p.m.

CANADA'S VETERANS Their Post-War Opportunities

This is the first of a series of advertisements to inform the people of Canada of plans to re-establish men and women of the armed forces. To get the full details save and read every advertisement.

For complete information write for the booklet "Back to Civil Life."

The Future After Discharge — A MESSAGE TO RELATIVES OF THOSE IN THE ARMED FORCES

When your boys and your girls come home, when they lay aside the uniform, when they go out into the world as normal peace-loving Canadians, what lies ahead? Can they pick up their lives as civilians, where they laid them down, months or long years ago? Are there plans to help them do the things they wanted to do before the war? Will they have security? Can they continue education, or receive needed training? Will they be assisted in home owning, or to establish their own business; and will they be enabled to pick up their family life once again?

These are questions which concern all those Canadians who have loved ones in the services. They are questions which this series of advertisements is designed to answer.

OPPORTUNITY IS THE OBJECTIVE

Canada has been making plans for your boy's and your girl's return to civilian life since early in 1940. These plans are in effect and operating now. The aim is that every person who has served shall have opportunity. Thousands, already back in civilian life, have benefited by training, by maintenance grants, by advice of departmental officials, and by the social security provisions. There is ample help for those men and women who want to help themselves.

ASSISTANCE ON DISCHARGE

When your boys and girls are discharged from the services, they will be given:

1. A clothing allowance of $100.00 (if discharged after August 1, 1944).
2. Their pay to date of discharge.
3. One month's additional pay, if they have 183 days' continuous service, as a rehabilitation grant.
4. A railway warrant home or to the place of enlistment.

Dependents will receive:

1. Their normal dependents' allowance to date of discharge, with assigned pay.
2. An additional month's dependents' allowance, with assigned pay, if there has been 183 days' continuous service.

Your boy or girl will be allowed to retain certain items of uniform. They will be given a complete medical and dental examination and will be eligible for free needed treatment for a year after discharge. Those discharged not physically fit, in need of continuing treatment and unable to work, will have their pay and allowances of rank continued for at least a year if necessary and, if the disability is pensionable, for as long as curative treatment is beneficial. All are interviewed by Veterans' Welfare Officers and told of the re-establishment programme.

WAR SERVICE GRATUITY

On discharge, those enlisted to serve outside Canada, or those who served in the Aleutian Islands, are eligible for a war service gratuity. It provides $7.50 for each thirty days' service in Canada and the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each thirty days' service overseas or in the Aleutian Islands. For those with overseas service or with service in the Aleutian Islands, there is an additional seven days' pay and allowances for each six months of such service. Payments will be made at the end of each month in the months following discharge. Complete details of the war service gratuity will be given in a later advertisement.

RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT

In addition to the war service gratuity, there is a re-establishment credit of $7.50 for each thirty days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each thirty days' service overseas. This is for things such as the purchase or repair of a home, the buying of furniture, a business, or government life insurance, and for certain other purposes which will assist your boy or your girl in becoming re-established. This credit, which is reduced by grants given for training or education, or under the Veterans' Land Act, is primarily for those who do not wish assistance under these three plans.

RETURN TO FORMER JOBS

If your boy or girl held a civilian position before enlisting, and was not engaged to replace somebody already in the forces, and if the position still exists, and your boy or girl is capable of filling it, it is the employer's duty, under the law of Canada, to reinstate him or her in that position with seniority. Application for reinstatement must be made to the former employer within three months of discharge from the forces or from hospital.

Veterans' Welfare Officers are stationed in key centres throughout Canada. They are the friends of Ex-Service men and women. It is their duty to advise and assist all Ex-Service personnel with their re-establishment problems. If there is anything about the Rehabilitation programme which you do not understand, consult your nearest Veterans' Welfare Officer.

TRAINING AND EDUCATION

The surest way to permanent employment—the thing your boy or girl will want—is a skill to get and to hold a job. Canada's plans give opportunity to acquire needed skill either at university or in preparation for a business or industrial career. Fees are paid by the state, along with living allowances, while training or continuing education.

WHILE ILL OR UNEMPLOYED

There is protection against illness or unemployment by maintenance allowances which can be drawn against in the first eighteen months after discharge. There is also protection under the Unemployment Insurance Act for those who enter insured employment and remain in it fifteen weeks.

HOME OWNING AND FARMING

There is provision to assist city and other workers to have homes of their own, either on small acreages of land outside the high taxation area, or in town, under the National Housing Act. Full-time farmers can be given financial assistance in full-time farming, while commercial fishermen may secure financial help in getting their own homes, on small acreages of land, and in buying needed fishing equipment.

FREE TREATMENT

In the year following discharge, service men and women are eligible for free treatment, hospitalization and allowances for any condition, even if not the result of service. Pensioners are entitled to this for life for their pensioned disability.

THE POLICY ON PENSIONS

Canada's Pension Act is administered by an independent commission, all former members of the services. Any permanent disability suffered overseas, not a result of misconduct, is pensionable. Where service is in Canada only, the disability must be a result of service.

Published under the authority of Hon. Ian A. Mackenzie, Minister of

RICKENBACKER ON SACRIFICE

We have the need to conduct ourselves so that we can look those others in the face when they come home—those who live to come home.

We hear a lot about "equality of sacrifice."

The phrase is false—a hollow mockery. With what bitter laughter it must have been greeted at Guadalcanal, and New Guinea.

What sacrifice can any man or woman in America make that deserves to be mentioned beside the sacrifices of the boys in the hellholes of the Solomons?

Who dares to talk of "sacrifice"
when he reads of the bodies of our young men being crushed under the weight of German tanks into the mud of Africa?

Sacrifice—by putting a little of your swollen pay into the safest investment in the world.

Sacrifice—by not taking the family out for a ride on Sunday.

Sacrifice—by keeping your home merely ten degrees warmer than the homes of England.

This bloody war can be won only
if we at home show that we deserve to have it won. Sacrifice must mean an even distribution of sacrifice on the home front comparable to the moral and physical courage being shown by our men abroad. Do not let these boys come back from their graves and from the depths of the seas and blame you for having failed in your obligation.

Men and women of America, if you could only understand what our boys—your boys and mine—are doing in those hell-holes throughout the Pacific and the burning sands of Africa that your way of life may be preserved. Must we wait until hundreds of thousands of the cream of our youth—sons, brothers, husbands and fathers—have been slaughtered and wrecked, before we recognize our duty—Captain Eddie Rickenbacker.

ory of what happened after the last war was won.

Don't lose that memory now. Don't forget the depression—the poverty that hit the farmers—the bread lines in the cities—the soldiers looking looking for jobs, and not finding them.

Remember that Peace brought

CONTINUATION OF

STAGE DOOR CANTEN

learned that the very snugness of the place provided a more intimate and home-like atmosphere, and in a way that is true.

The next afternoon I wended my way alone to the heart of New York,
and after losing myself in the subway at last saw the light of day and ascended into Times Square. Thence to the Hotel Astor Beauty Salon
where I was to meet Miss Evelyn.

We swept from there around the corner to the Stage Door Canteen.

In a back entrance, and there I was,
once again on the balcony overlooking the now empty dance floor. The Canteen opens at five o'clock, and remains open until midnight, and at four o'clock was deserted by the un-derlaid heroines, the k.p. girls who do all the hard work ungarished by glamour.

From Miss Evelyn, who, by the way
lived for a time in Toronto, I learned that 150 hostesses are on duty
each night, and they work in 3 shifts of 50. If one happens in during the evening, she must stay one hour and help the shift on duty. But the afternoon shifts work from something like noon to 8 p.m. These hardy souls make, cut, and wrap individually in wax paper thousands of sandwiches,
cut cake, prepare fruit, put out candy
make coffee and store, it in huge thermos vats. And all this, in one small kitchen and a couple of pantries! Later the sandwiches are arranged in the bins behind the counter according to their various kinds which are indicated by neatly printed signs hung over the containers.

The ladies on duty, to whom Miss Evelyn introduced me, stated that though on an average week night 3500 men visited the Canteen, and on Saturday and Sunday nights there was an average of 5000, on the preceding night when I had chosen to make my visit there had been 4800 servicemen in and out during the evening!

The last words I heard Miss Evelyn say to a friend at work on the bins were "I'm going to get Victor Jory fingerprinted and bring him in to help in the kitchen". Victor Jory is at present playing opposite Elizabeth Bergner in The Second Mrs. Carroll, now on Broadway.

Now, the far-reaching fame of New York's Stage Door Canteen does not lie in the brands of sandwiches it supplies, but in the entertainment it provides, which is, in its way, the finest in the world. Not every night
do the boys get a chance to dance with Hollywood's Betty Grable, such as one Granby lad did, but when the stars of the stage and films are free
they gladly give their time and talent to this enterprise of the American Theatre. Big name dance bands, too, are present when they can make a break in their schedules to entertain the boys. The programmes are never listed in advance, because if it were known every time an outstanding attraction was booked every serviceman in the City of New York would turn out, and apart from the resultant discomfort of the Canteen's bulging at the seams the line-up outside of disappointed boys would extend for many blocks.

The Stage Door Canteen is open to any man in the forces of the allied nations, irrespective of his colour, race, creed, denomination, political beliefs, or parentage. His rank does not matter, but the enlisted men are in the majority in attendance because usually enlisted men and officers prefer to remain inconspicuously in their respective groups.
Since officers can well afford to pay for their pleasures, the Canteen is almost exclusively the privilege of the enlisted men. But that does not bar an officer from entering and enjoying its hospitality.

It was an interesting experience,
visiting the Canteen, and I'm glad it was at this door that opportunity chose to knock.—By Granby Leader-Mail.

Canadian Army News

Ottawa—All necessary steps to ensure that the land containing Canadian War Graves Overseas will be held in perpetuity for the Canadian people, were taken long ago by the Dominion Government, Defence Head quarters announced today.

By virtue of a long-standing agreement with the Imperial War Graves Commission all such properties requisitioned during hostilities by the Canadian Army, will be acquired,
"not in the manner or with the consequences of a private sale," but for permanent possession by the Dominion of Canada, the statement revealed.

The Imperial War Graves Commission is the accredited agent of all the governments of the British Commonwealth of Nations, and the "custodian in perpetuity" of all the graves of fallen members of the Commonwealth's forces. The Commission was formed during the Great War and operates under special powers conferred by Royal Charter. Its headquarters are in London, England, and its Canadian member is the Hon.
Vincent Massey, High Commissioner
for Canada.

Although, due to the exigencies of war, the Canadian Army has had to assume the duty of choosing War Cemetery sites marking the graves with the approved, temporary wooden crosses, maintaining the cemeteries during hostilities and keeping accurate and detailed records of those buried, it has carried out all such preliminary work under the guidance of the Commission. The transfer of active responsibility from the Army to the Commission, at the end of the war, will thus be effected smoothly and without the confusion which might otherwise occur.

When that time comes, one of the first duties of the Commission will be the replacement of all temporary memorials with permanent head-stones. Such headstones, however, cannot be erected now, due to shortage of labor, lack of transport and Overseas—the ever present danger of war damage.

As a temporary measure, therefore all known graves will remain marked by specially designed wooden crosses; by the Star of David in the case of Jewish graves, or by other appropriate forms of memorials approved by the Commission. These temporary memorials are ruggedly built, painted white and bear the regimental particulars in black letters. In the Overseas theatres most of them are constructed on the spot
by men of the Royal Canadian Engineers.

After peace is declared, and the danger of war damage removed, the Commission will erect the standard, copyrighted headstone which, since 1914-1918, has been reserved as a mark of honour used only on the graves of fallen members of the Commonwealth's forces. As a symbol of the equality of sacrifice all head-stones are of identical size and design, regardless of rank.

This traditional stone memorial is 2 feet 6 inches high, 1 foot 3 inches thick. Ample space is provided on each stone for a personal inscription and the engraving of a religious emblem, if the next-of-kin so desires.
The Commission, in due course,
will write to all next-of-kin to obtain full particulars of such inscriptions, so that all may be in readiness to make and erect the permanent memorial as soon as opportunity permits.

Such details as the next-of-kin wish to have recorded in the permanent printed register will be secured at the same time and in the same way.

As in the last war, many are missing and have no known graves. In such cases the Commission will invite the next-of-kin to supply the necessary particulars for inscription on whatever type of memorial is chosen to commemorate their sacrifice.

No charge is made for temporary markings, permanent headstones or the necessary engravings. The Commission's funds are provided by the various Governments of the Commonwealth.

The Commission is prepared to mark all War Graves with the same distinctive headstone, not only in military cemeteries and Service plots
but also in cases of single and private burials, where relatives wish their dead to share the traditional memorial with their comrades who rest in foreign lands.

The erection of private or unit memorials in military cemeteries or Service plots, however, cannot be permitted. Such a practice would destroy the harmonious appearance of the plots and violate the Commission's policy of equality of treatment Civil cemetery authorities, for a like reason, also prohibit the erection of private memorials in Service plots.

These policies, which have guided the Commission since it was first entrusted with the marking and care of the graves of those who fell during 1914-1918, have won the sympathy and understanding of the people of the British Commonwealth.
The War Graves Cemeteries which were laid out in all parts of the world, as a result of the Commission's labors, have been universally recognized as places of quiet beauty, fitting memorials created by the Commission's architects and landscape artists as a final tribute to those who gave their lives in the course of duty. The same meticulous care governs the work of the Commission in the present war.

To attempt such an undertaking in the midst of the confusion of war,
however, would not, in the Commission's opinion, be conducive to the satisfactory discharge of its seriously held responsibilities to the next-of-kin. Until hostilities cease, therefore, Canadian War Graves Overseas will remain marked by temporary memorials, while the cemeteries, themselves will remain in the care of the Military authorities until taken over by the Commission for permanent embellishment and maintenance.

Relatives who wish to make enquiries respecting war graves should address them to Imperial War Graves Commission, Canadian Agency,

313 Transportation Building, Ottawa, Ontario.

DOES BIG JOB

Canadians thrilled with pride at the announcement of Hon. Angus Macdonald, minister of naval affairs,
that Canadian naval vessels recently escorted to Britain without loss the largest convoy that ever sailed the seas. It consisted of more than 1,000, 000 tons of cargo carried in about 180 ships. This is another example of the vital contribution Canada has been making toward victory—an important factor in gaining for Canada
new esteem and influence in international affairs. Mr. Macdonald also revealed that since before the invasion of Normandy, ships of the Canadian navy have been conducting 100 per cent of the close convoy work for all ships sailing from North America to the United Kingdom. Thus, since the beginning of the year, the Royal Canadian Navy has assumed twice its former role in this important work.

OTTAWA—Application of the University of Alberta for a commercial license for the government-owned radio station CKUA at Edmonton, has been refused, transport department officials said Tuesday.

The university has a restricted license which enables the station to be used for educational purposes, but prohibits the carrying of commercial programs. Several efforts have been made during the last year to have the license extended to enable commercial programs to be carried.

Officials declined to elaborate on the statement or give the reason for the refusal.

GENERAL McNAUGHTON
RETIRED FROM ARMY

OTTAWA, Sept. 29—Lt. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, 57, former commander of the Canadian Army overseas, has retired from the army with the rank of full general. It was announced Thursday night by Defence Minister Ralston.

He thus becomes the second full general in Canadian army history. The first was Sir Arthur Currie, commander of the Canadian corps in the First Great War, who was given his promotion when he returned to Canada.

Gen. McNaughton, now in Renfrew will receive a pension, the amount of which has not yet been determined. As commander he was paid $14,000 a year by special order in council.

A WEEKLY EDITOR LOOKS AT Ottawa

Written specially for the weekly newspaper of Canada

Coming up for the week of October 8-14th, Canada will again observe "Fire Prevention Week," deemed so important that it is announced by Proclamation in the Canada Gazette. The Dominion Fire Commissioner flatly states there are too many fires on Canadian farms as well as towns and cities. During the past ten years 470,000 fires in the Dominion have destroyed insurable property valued at more than $284,000,000, and during that period 2,869 persons lost their lives as a result of fires. That's something to think about, alright, and a mighty good reason why everyone should make a thorough inspection of premises for fire hazards—and be careful, always. Nearly all fires can be prevented.

You mightn't think it, but the "taxation" policy of the government is another weapon in the fight to keep down the cost of living, and the same is true of "savings," both having the same result, i.e., helping to pay for the war and curbing excess purchasing power. Through supporting price and wage controls Canadians contribute passively to the success of the stabilization policy to keep down the cost of living. Through taxation and increased savings they can make an active contribution, and a very important one. That is something to remember when the War Finance organization starts functioning again to mobilize personal savings for Victory through another loan.

No one envies the work of the federal Labor Department which has the tough job of having directed toward it most of the labor and industrial disputes which arise. It is encouraging to hear a report from the department, though, that there has been a decided reduction in time lost through strikes in the first six months of 1944, compared with the same period of 1943. Preliminary figures show that 51,000 workers were involved in 110 disputes, with a loss of 330,000 man hours. In last year's 6-month period there were 308 disputes, with 100,000 workers and a loss of nearly 516,000 man-days.

The history of the fast-growing Canadian Navy, when it is written, will be a glorious one in the chapter which includes operations of the year 1944. R.C.N. ships provided 100 per cent of close escort for all North America-United Kingdom trade convoys during the summer months of this year, and at the same time a considerable proportion of the sea-going lads and fighting ships were supporting invasion operations in Northern France. Our navy manned 30 infantry landing craft, 16 motor torpedo boats for the operations, and had 19 corvettes escorting invasion convoys as well as six of our largest and most powerful destroyers. In all 109 ships, manned by about 10,000 officers and men took part in the invasion. Our navy had a great record against U-boats and since the beginning of the war, by themselves, captured one surface ship, sank twelve, and damaged sixteen. Canadian ships were represented also in naval forces, which sank 23 enemy surface vessels damaged nine others.

In the farmyard Canadian hens have scored an astounding record for their houses, farmers and poultry men. In the first 7 months of this year the Special Products Board bought nearly two and a half million cases of surplus shell eggs for export to Britain in the form of dried egg powder. This is double that of any first seven months in any previous peak year.

General disease has been very effectively handled by the Canadian Army authorities. Its campaign against one of the oldest of health problems has shown results. From a disease rate in the Canadian Army of 62 per thousand at the beginning of the war, V.D. casualties have now been brought down to 24 per thousand a year, a reduction of nearly two-thirds. No soldier found to be infected will be allowed to return to civilian life until given suitable treatment and received a clean bill of health.

The national checkup of employers' reports on male employees by National Selective Service located a total of 7,245 men not in good standing under Mobilization Regulations. These delinquents were among nearly 36,000 doubtful cases reported by patriotic employers.

When the liner "Gripsholm" sailed recently for Sweden to exchange German and Allied prisoners of war, it also carried 1,500 bags of parcels for Canadian prisoners of war in Germany. When the Canadian Post Office department found there would be space for mail, quick arrangements were made to include 1,110 bags of parcel post, on hand in New York. Usually they go through Switzerland, by way of Marseille, but since the latter is now in the battle zone, parcel post had accumulated in New York. New labels were quickly printed in Ottawa, flown to New York and that's the story behind the story.

Our lumber industry will be in a favored spot when the war is over. Negotiations have been in process between the British Timber Control Office and eastern and western Canadian lumbermen for the export of 2,400,000,000 feet of lumber in the two years after, and this will involve a transaction of nearly $140,000,000. Canada is expected to become the chief source of lumber for British reconstruction in the immediate post war years, because of the heavy demands on all the Baltic countries except Sweden for their own domestic reconstruction. Britain's demands for lumber can be gauged by the report that the robot bombs damaged or destroyed a million homes or buildings in their own little "blitz." There's still worry about the coal situation in this country and the Munitions Department advises householders, especially in certain regions, to place orders at once for delivery when the dealer can deliver. Since war started Canadian coal consumption has jumped about 70% from 28,000,000 short tons in 1939-40 to an estimated 47,000,000 short tons for 1944-45. Our imports from the U.S.A. doubled in the last 3½ years, but their own domestic consumption increases makes further importation difficult for us.

An unheralded new industry in Canada is highlighted by refugees allowed in, and many have come here since 1938 establishing industries of consequence. "Canada At War" reports that nearly 5,000 workers are employed by these industries, 87% of them Canadian with a total annual payroll of $8,727,000. The five biggest industries—producing from $1 million to $9 million worth of goods each a year—are turning out 80 to 100% war materials. The majority of these industries have settled in the east: 26 in Ontario, 17 in Quebec, and one each in Saskatchewan and British Columbia. More than half are introducing new skills, new techniques or new products to Canadian economy. From special curing and canning of hams to the first factory to cut and polish diamonds for tools. Most of the refugees came from Czechoslovakia, though there are Germans, Poles, Belgians, Hungarians, Netherlands and French as well.

There has been magnificent response reported in blood donations at the Canadian Red Cross clinic. In the year 1943 there were 529,635 donations, compared to 5,325 in 1940. But in the first six months of this year 532,992 donations were given, more than for the whole of last year.

ABOUT THE THINGS YOU BUY IN WARTIME...

"I think it can be safely said that the sugar supply position is the most difficult situation we have to face today in any rationed commodity. You can't get all you want in wartime. If one pound will do, don't buy two."

Cherney

The sugar situation is NOT sweet

FOUR-FIFTHS OF THE SUGAR CANADA CONSUMES HAS TO BE IMPORTED

This map shows where Canada, Great Britain and the United States got their sugar in the good old days of peace. Our three countries take practically all the exportable sugar from these major sugar-exporting areas.

But supplies have either been cut off by enemy occupation of the country—as in the case of Java and the Philippines, or their production radically reduced by shortage of workers, as in the case of Hawaii, Porto Rico, Australia, Trinidad, Fiji.

The war has brought some unusual demands on the United Nations' sugar pool. Vast quantities have been taken for making industrial alcohol used in the manufacture of synthetic rubber (tires, etc.) as well as T.N.T. and smokeless powder. For instance, the explosive to fill five 16-inch shells requires as much sugar as

THE SUPPLY IS SHARED

All sugar supplies are pooled and under the control of the Combined Food Board of the United Nations, which allots supplies to Canada, United States and Great Britain on a uniform basis.

WE'RE LIVING ON OUR SUGAR CAPITAL

ROLLING ON SUGAR

is produced on an acre of the finest sugar land. This year Cuban sugar alone used for making industrial alcohol will equal Canada's normal sugar imports for more than two years.

DO WE NEED MORE SUGAR?

A century ago the whole world didn't consume as much sugar as Canada does today. Our sweet tooth has been acquired in quite recent times. Sugar rates high for its energy value, but starchy food is a good substitute.

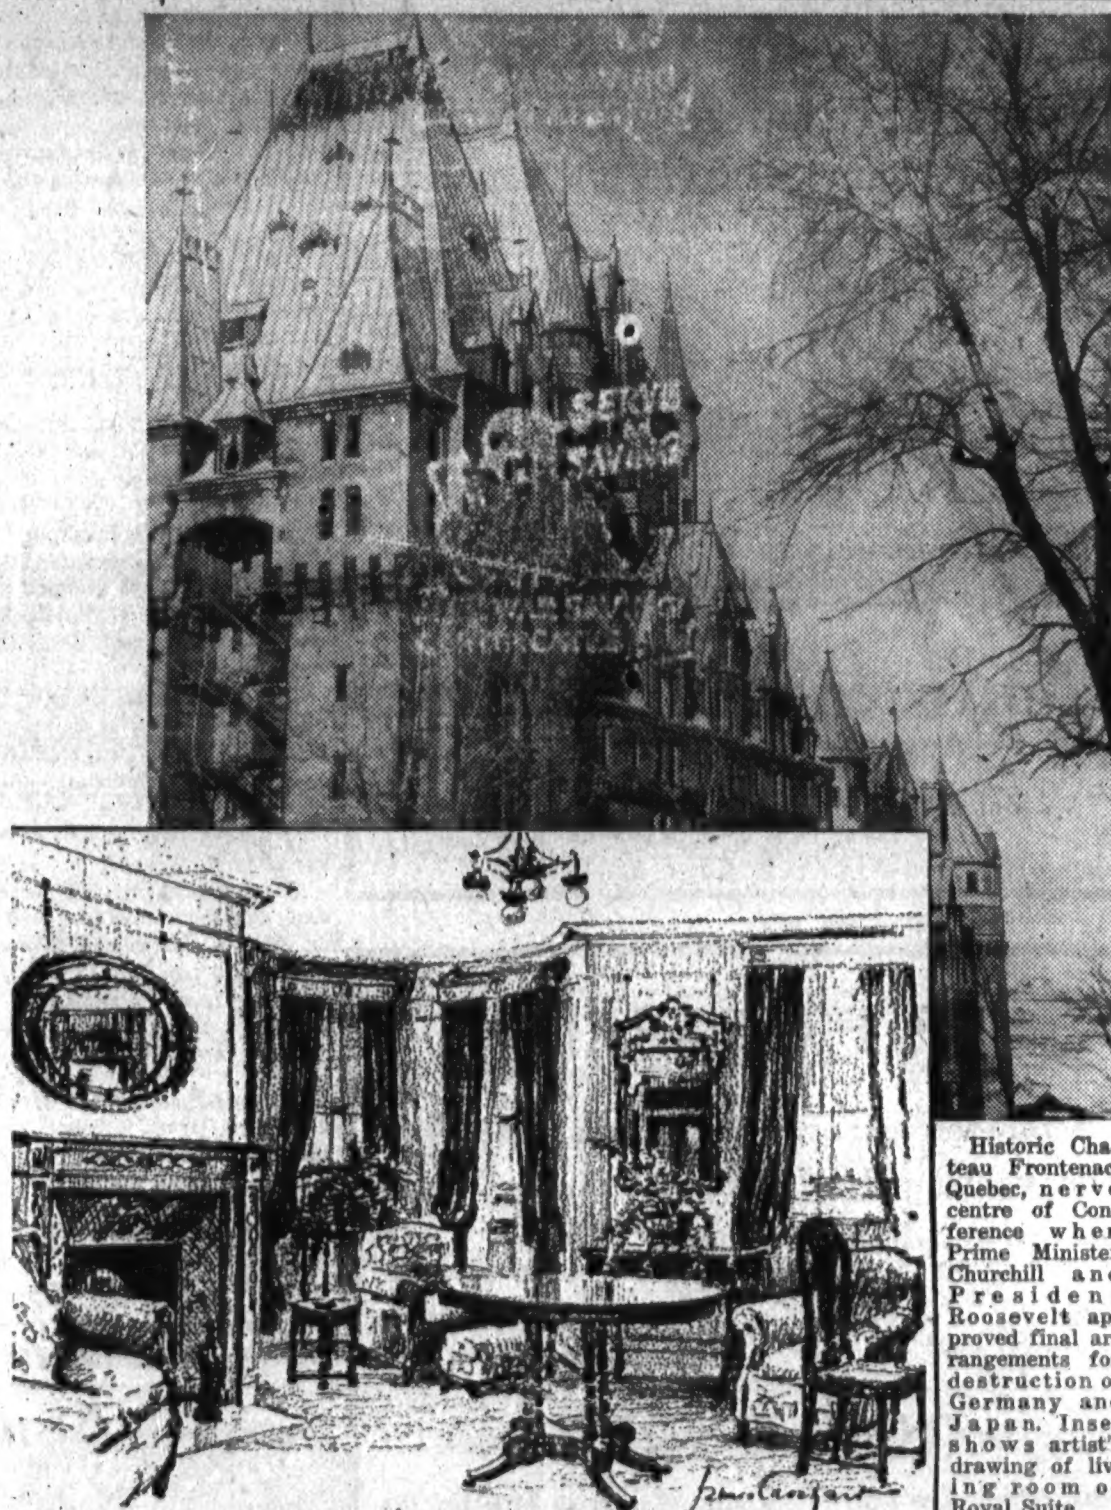

into "reserve." Liberated nations will have to dip in too. Extra good crops could improve the situation, but greatly increased supplies are not in sight. If current consumption keeps up, we could be very short of sugar next year. We must do the utmost to conserve our supplies.

PROTECTING RASPBERRIES

FOE WINTER

To grow raspberries for fruit or cane production, that's the question. Too many people grow just canes. The canes that should bear, winter-kill and new growth springs up each year without having a chance to fruit. While the wild raspberry is hardy enough to winter and fruit with fair regularity, and while one or two cultivated kinds such as Sunbeam may survive the average winter, the more choice kinds kill back more or less badly unless covered with soil or snow, says W. D. Albright, Superintendent, Dominion Experimental Station, Beaverlodge, Alberta. In some regions it is necessary to bury the canes completely in a deep ridge of earth, but at Beaverlodge they usually survive if bent over in the fall and weighted with earth placed on the tips.

When the old wood has been cut out and the new canes are thinned to about 8 or 10 per running yard length of row, put on a pair of leather gloves, grasp a clump of canes by the tips, bend them over gently to the windward, say west or south, and have a helper throw a shovelful of earth on the tips. As a rule the earth should first be made available by ploughing a furrow not too close to the row. Thus bent over, the canes will soon be covered with snow, which is the real protector.

To save time some growers bend the canes over with a pole, but this is not quite so good. Others bed the plantation deeply with loose straw, and this encourages mice.

In spring, about the end of April or first of May, lift the canes with a fork and support them in an upright position by wires strung on poles set on each side of the row.

The object of laying the canes down to windward is that when lifted the next spring the prevailing winds help to straighten them up.

ATTENTION POTATO GROWERS

Ring rot symptoms are now in evidence and all potato growers can give valuable assistance in the campaign against this disease by a careful examination of their crops.

Most, if not all of the tubers of a diseased plant will appear quite sound and healthy from outward appearance. An indication of the disease can only be observed by cutting a slice off the stem end of the potato and examining the faint ring just a fraction of an inch inwards from the skin. A spot or two, on this ring, that is creamy yellow to light brown in colour should arouse suspicion. Test the spots with your knife to see if they are softer than elsewhere on the surface of the cut. If the spots are due to ring-rot they should be soft and you should be able to squeeze juice out of them. Only one or two of the tubers in a hill may show these first symptoms but all the tubers in that hill will be diseased and dangerous to plant next year even if put in storage.

Positive identification of ring-rot requires expert examination and can only be established by the use of a microscope. If you locate potatoes showing symptoms described you can help yourself and the whole industry by packing samples in a small box, labelling them "Diseased Potatoes" and mailing at once to the Field Crops Branch, Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton. Pick several potatoes that appear to have the symptoms but are still not badly decayed. Don't send badly decomposed potatoes since these are very difficult to analyze.

Inspectors are now in the field to conduct a survey of the presence of Bacterial Ring Rot. With your co-operation at this time much can be done to check this disease before it makes good its threat to destroy our entire potato industry.

Efficient Operation of Combines

For good results, proper adjustment of the combine is essential, says B. T. Stephenson, Agricultural Engineer. Each crop requires certain machine adjustments. The best way to find what these adjustments are is to study the service manual furnished by the firm making the machine.

Probably the most common cause of grain loss is an overloaded straw rack. If the straw is heavy and it is necessary to cut close to the ground the speed of the machine should be reduced so that grain losses are reduced.

The most common "measuring stick" for good threshing is to examine the heads of grain for kernels still fast in the heads. This is not the proper procedure for determining total grain losses. It will give the cylinder loss but not the other machine losses. The operator in trying to thresh the last kernel out of the head will close down the cylinder so tightly that the straw will be cut up very fine.

This finely broken straw will overload the straw rack and staves with the resulting loss of grain. The finely broken straw will settle on the staves and form a heavy mat which will not be lifted up by the wind blast. Thus the grain will not have an opportunity to sift through this mat and will go over the end of the sieve and out of the combine.

The clearance between the cylinder and concaves is a more important adjustment than the cylinder speed. The clearance should be just enough to thresh the grain out of the head and not break the straw up too fine.

BUY WAR BONDS &amp; STAMPS

World of Wheat

H. G. L. Strang, Director, Research Department, Searle Grain Company, Ltd.

WE MUST BUY IF WE WANT TO SELL

Our farmers are receiving much advice about what they should produce. They are being urged to go in more for diversified farming. "Surely," one of these critics said the other day, "our farmers have now learned how much better it is to produce livestock products than to confine themselves to grain production."

The trouble is that our prairie farmers can only produce commodities for which there is a good market, and which will return a price that will cover costs of production with some profit. Markets—which means mainly export markets—therefore, and not advice, govern the whole matter. To illustrate, this war has brought a large demand for hogs at remunerative prices. Our farmers quickly increased hog production and needed no advice nor urging to do so.

We must ever remember, however, that we cannot sell if we do not buy, and this means that if after the war large quantities of farm products are to be sold abroad, then Canadian people must be willing to purchase the goods of those foreign people who need our foodstuffs. This in turn means that high tariffs, which now obstruct the importation of foreign goods, will have to be torn down. Those who earnestly desire to help farmers, therefore can best do so by pressing our Government to tear down existing Canadian tariffs.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN

THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Broomhall says that reports on the Rumanian wheat crop are not quite as favourable as they were last year. Ecuador estimates the 1944 rice crop at 5.2 million bushels, compared with last year's record crop of 7.6 million bushels. It is believed that the New South Wales wheat crop will amount to less than half of last year's crop.

Wheat acreage in Ireland is placed at 641,100 acres, or about 25 per cent larger than in 1943; a better than average crop is forecast. The first official estimate of Canada's 1944 wheat crop places prairie production at 423 million bushels, compared with 277 million bushels harvested in 1943.

Creamed Fish

Add flaked fish to a medium white sauce (2 tablespoons each of flour and butter or margarine, blended and cooked until thick and smooth with 1 cup of milk). Serve on toast points or shortcake style on hot split, buttered biscuits. Lemon juice sprinkled over fish before adding to sauce brings out all the fish flavor. This is a real flavor trick and worth remembering for tuna or salmon. Interesting additions to this creamed fish are chopped hard cooked egg; chopped parsley, celery or green pepper; chopped ripe olives. The egg is a good addition to "stretch" the fish and may be added generously.

Fish Salad

Sprinkle flaked, cooked, left-over fish with lemon juice. Combine with chopped celery or cabbage. (Chopped green sweet peppers, hard-cooked eggs, and ripe olives are other good additions). Blend all ingredients with mayonnaise, made with lemon juice. Serve on crisp leaves of lettuce or romaine.

An attractive fish salad plate with which your Victory Garden can help, consists of tomatoes stuffed with this fish salad. Serve one of these tomatoes on individual dinner-size plates with potato salad, sliced cucumber, olives and lemon quarters.

Fish Cocktail

Combine 1 cup of flaked, cooked, left-over fish with 1 cup finely cut celery, ¼ cup tomato catsup, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, ¼ cup lemon juice, 1 tablespoon finely cut olives or onion. Chill thoroughly. Serve in cocktail glasses. Accompany with lemon quarters. Serves 4 to 5. This is a good cocktail sauce for such seafoods as oysters, clams, shrimps, crab or lobster.

Left-Over Cooked Fish

Can Serve A Good Turn

Left-over cooked fish can be used in many of the ways that canned salmon and tuna are used. Remove bones and skin from the fish and separate it into flakes.

Thrift...
IS PRACTICAL PATRIOTISM

How many ways can you save
... to LEND TO CANADA?

In the homes, all over Canada, loyal, patriotic women are discovering new ways to economize... new ways to save money to lend to their country. A little saved here and a little saved there provides money to lend to Canada to help pay for the war. Small sums from millions of Canadians mount to billions when totalled up.

The amount that you may lend to your country may seem a small sum to you, but pennies make dimes and dimes make dollars, and Canada needs every single dollar that every Canadian can save and lend. Canada's need for borrowing is greater now than ever before. Every Canadian must lend, and lend more than before. Money you save and invest in Victory Bonds will benefit you in a personal way, too. You will have cash, when the war is over, to buy things you want for your home... things you are doing without now... cash to pay on a new home... to pay on a new car.
